Jaquie Hunt trims actor Ashley Windsor's wig for Georgetown Little Theatre's production of Promenade All!

Familiar face joins GLT

By LOIS FRASER
 Special to The Independent/Free Press

Mark Llewellyn is a busy guy. Between rehearsals for Georgetown Little Theatre's Promenade, All! and Brampton's City of Angels, he is rehearsing six days a week on top of a full-time job.

Georgetown audiences will recognize Mark from several Globe Production shows (ie: Fagan in Oliver, Emile in South Pacific, Sky Masterson in Guys 'n Dolls.)

A beautiful singer, Mark decided that he wanted to hone his acting skills. He tried his first drama last spring in Etobicoke and appeared in a farce with Brampton last Fall.

He came to the auditions for Promenade, All! not knowing what to expect. His reaction during the reading was 'great play but no part for me....oh, well.' But, Director

Jacky Willows, heard the perfect voice for Grandpa Huntzinger and Mark was in! He starts off at age 70, then becomes 30 (different characters) and ages over the 77 year span of the play. He finds it a challenge and is thoroughly enjoying his first play with GLT.

Performances are February 18, 19, 23, 24, 25, 26. Tickets are $7-$10 and are sold Tuesday and Thursday 4-8 p.m. at the John Elliott Theatre.

Promenade, All! is slightly "spicy" so it is billed as adult entertainment. Subscribers are reminded tickets stating An Inspector Call will be honored for Promenade, All!

Benefit performance
 GLT is holding a benefit performance of Promenade All! for North Halton Literacy Guild Feb. 17. Tickets are $12 at Hallmark Cards, Oxbow Books, Young's Pharmacy or The Guild office at 873-2200.
