Erin Agriculture Society holds fundraiser

The Erin Agricultural Society is planning a giant sale to be held at the fair grounds on May 21.

The recent fire which completely destroyed the main fair building has resulted in the need for fundraising not only to rebuild but funds are also needed to continue with this year's fair. Current projects include several dances as well as a raffle featuring numerous prizes, many of which have been donated.

Early bird draws feature a barbecue and beef and a color TV. The draw for main prizes including a car will be made at the fair.

We need people to participate in our sale and so it is your chance to offer support. We ask that you pre-register and that a portion of your sales be donated to the cause (minimum donation of $10 per vendor) paid on day of sale. To reserve call 519-833-2156 or 519-833-9141.

It will be held outside, however, some covered areas could be available in case of rain. People are responsible to bring, sell and remove their own items.

If you wish to donate items with all proceeds to the cause just call the above numbers.

Not only will this be the biggest garage sale around it will also feature homemade bake goods and thanks to a generous donation from Sheridan Nurseries plenty of trees, shrubs and plants will be sold.

It does not matter if you are buying or selling you won't want to miss this one and it is your chance to contribute to the cause.

Recycled crafts

What do you do with those leftover styrofoam meat trays? Make airplanes out of them. That's what a bunch of children discovered during a craft session at Wastewise, April 23, during Earth Day celebrations. From left, Katherine Hopkins, 9, of Acton; Sarah Kobsa, 9, also of Acton; teacher Shelley Wolf of Terra Cotta; Vincent O'Neill, 6, of Brampton and Lauren Cox, 7, of Limehouse.
