Respecting the law

Local police officers and civilians were honored recently as the Optimists Club of Georgetown recognized those individuals who made a contribution to the law and order of Halton Hills at the annual Respect For Law awards dinner, May 10. Those present included, (from left) Halton regional chairman Peter Pomeroy, Halton Regional Police Chief Peter Campbell, Respect for Law award recipients Const. Dave Shortt, student Melissa Watts, and Aux. Sgt. John Tatham, as well as Superintendent Rick Dawson and Mayor Russ Miller. Another recipient, Emerson Gleason, was unable to be present.

Mrs. Gill transferred to Oakville school in the fall

Mrs. Karen Gill, one of our vice-principals, will be transferred to T.A. Blakelock in Oakville this September. Mrs. Gill has made an outstanding contribution to Georgetown District High School over the past three years.

Mrs. Gill is a regular contributor to our Parent Advisory sessions and provided many leadership opportunities for students to plan and host special assemblies. Her support for Student Council, the Student Wellness Action Council, Parents' Nights and Commencement has been significant.

BRYN DAVIES

Our staff have appreciated her hard work, her incredible organizational skills, her sound judgment, and her positive, supportive, caring attitude. She has been responsible for our new assessment and evaluation committee, she has managed our exam and field trip organization and she has been a strong supporter of our focus on student responsibility.

Parents and students who have had the privilege of working with her will surely say that she has been approachable, fair and consistent in working through sound educational decisions.

Mrs. Gill will certainly be missed. Her replacement will not be announced until June.
