

Pipe Band seeks more members

The past few months have been busy for members of the Georgetown Girls' Pipe Band preparing for their upcoming season of parades and competitions.

The band's 53rd season started May 14 in East Toronto. Other functions include parades in Ottawa and Cambridge as well as locally. The band will be competing at Highland Games in Georgetown on June 11, and at games in Barrie and Fergus.

Membership has tripled over the past two years. The band has attracted women of all ages (10-65) from several centres including Dundas, Cookstown and Brampton and is currently under the leadership of Pipe Major John Cameron and Drum Instructor Steve Gair.

This year for the first time the band has established financial ties with the Georgetown Lions Club to help offset equipment and uniform purchases.

The Georgetown Pipe Band is always looking for new members and will provide instructions for anyone interested in learning bagpipes or drums. Of course experienced players are always welcomed.

The band practises every Thursday evening from 7-10 p.m. at the Optimist Hall (Hwy 7, west of Park Lincoln-Mercury). To join or for further information call Gail Bennett at 877-8775 or Cheryle Daporte at 853-2687.

Watercolor class for adults begins in July

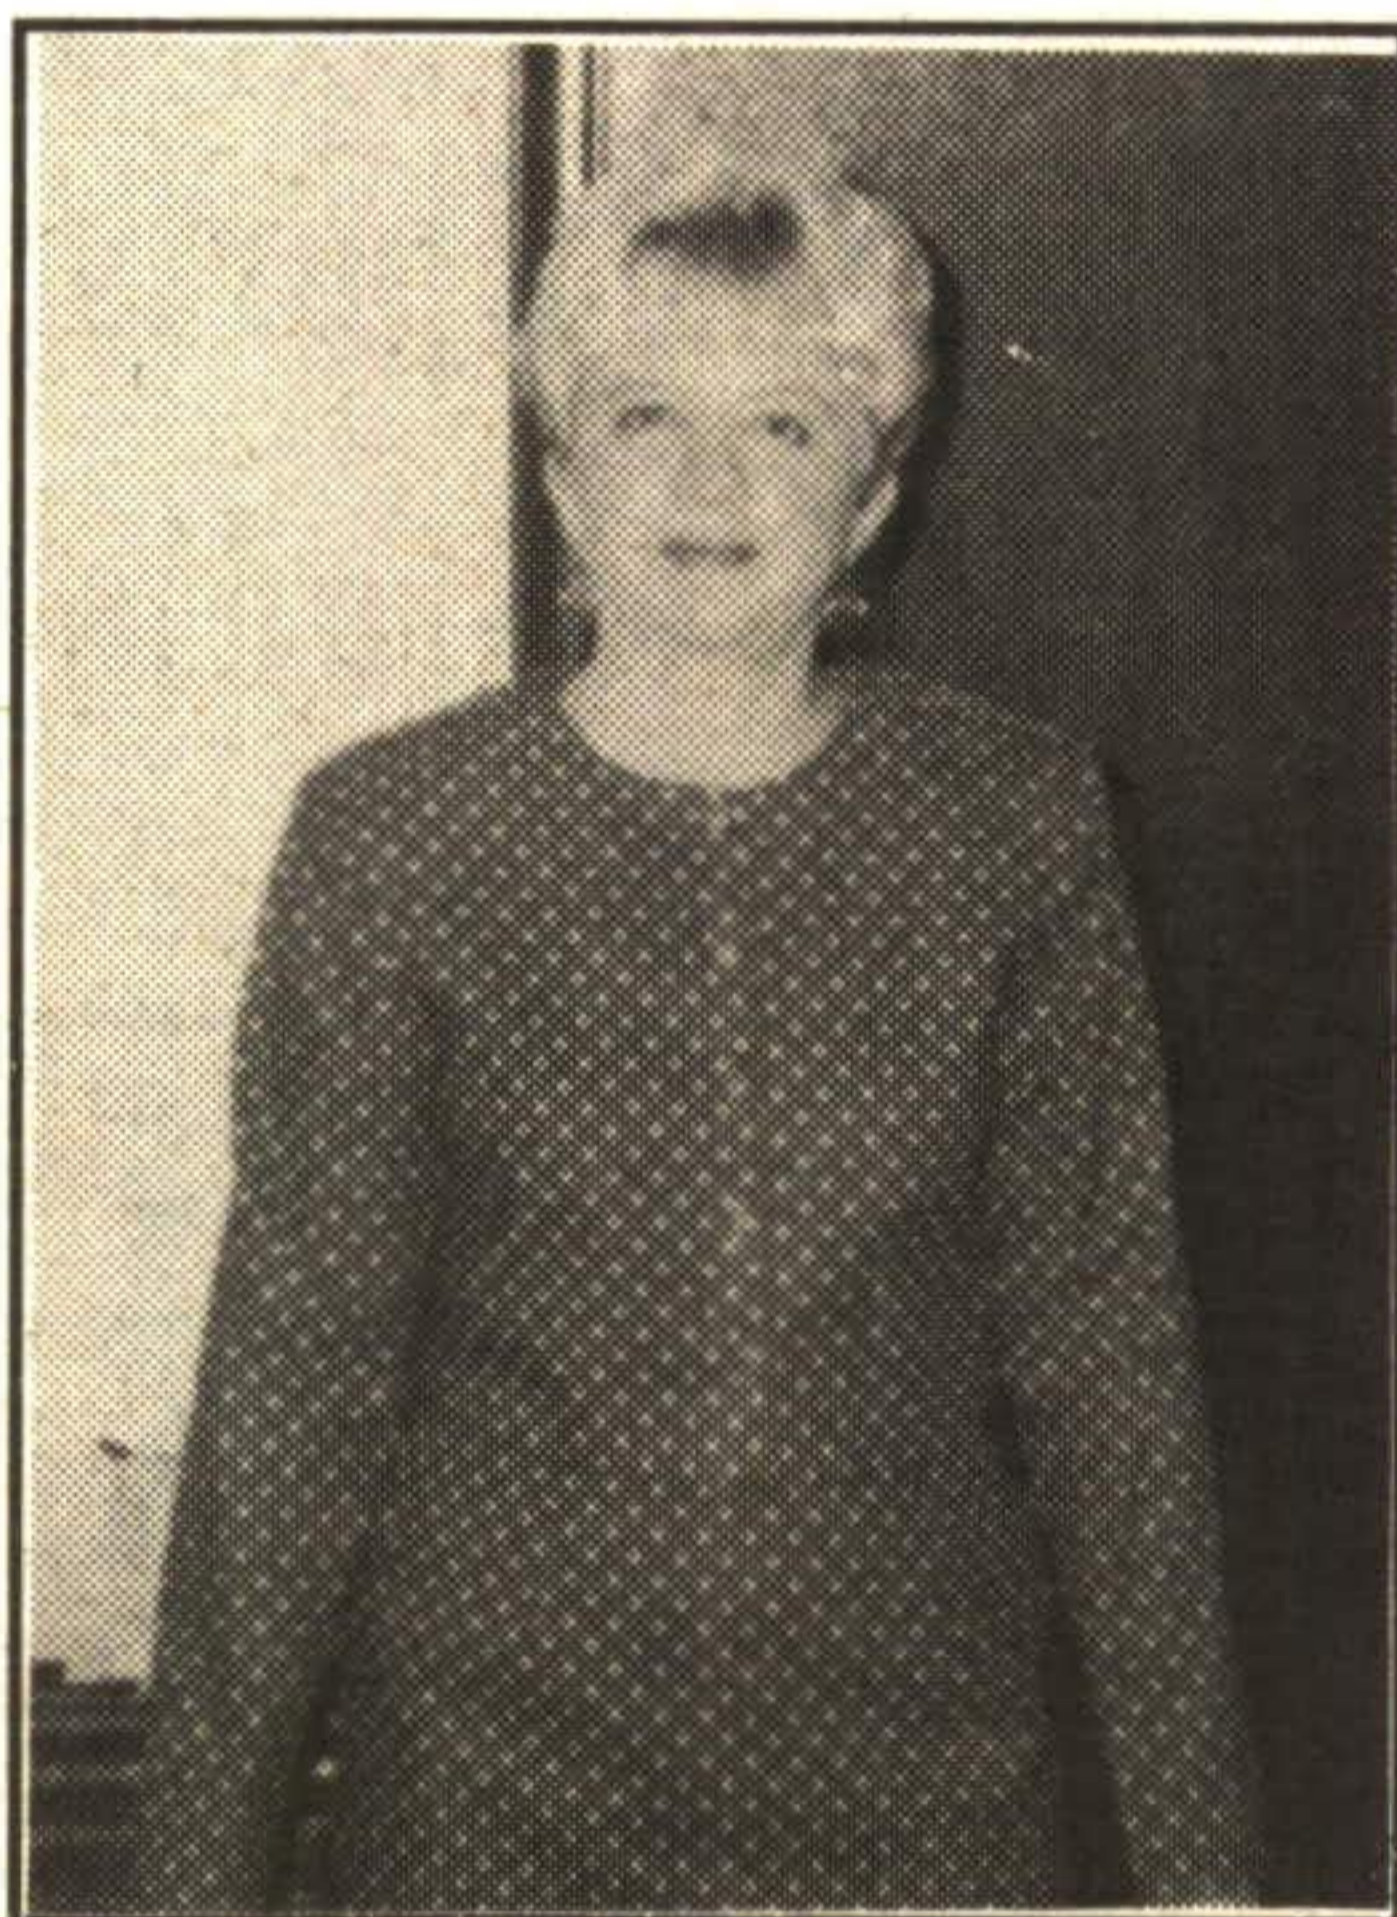

A Credit Valley Artisans watercolor class for adult beginners will be held at Cedarvale Cottage, Georgetown July 4-8, 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon. Registration 877-9927.

Summer exhibit

The Palette and Pencil Club will be exhibiting original works of art until July 9 at the Georgetown Library Cultural Centre Gallery. Miniature painting approximately 1 1/2" x 2" by new member Leslie Harvey will be included.
