Chief's wagon still a 'hot' issue

By LISA TALLYN

Councillor Ron Chatten voiced his dissatisfaction Monday night with a report from the town's fire chief regarding his explanation of why a station wagon is required for the fire department instead of a van.

The report was dealt with at last week's committee meeting which included a recommendation to purchase a $21,000 Mercury Sable station wagon from Park Lincoln Mercury. Committee passed the recommendation at that meeting.

"I felt the report was superficial," said Chatten. "It addressed only the height of underground garages." Chatten said he thought the report would discuss uses of the vehicle, the number of people it would carry, and other details.

He said the reason he requested the chief look into the option of buying a less expensive van was so the town would see a $5,000 to $7,000 savings. Chatten added requests set out in the town's budgets are only guidelines.

"I didn't see enough information (in the report) to change my mind (in support of the recommendation)," said Chatten.

In regard to Park Lincoln owner Walt Dixon's comments at another meeting that council didn't understand the tendering process Chatten referred to a tender that Park

Lincoln submitted to the town in 1985.

"It was requested of council, after the tendering process was complete, that it (Park Lincoln's tender) be removed because errors had been made in calculations."

According to Chatten, council of the day agreed to remove the tender. Chatten said he only brought up that incident because "it is a two-way street."

Councillor Norm Elliott stressed the station wagon will not be used by the fire chief as a personal vehicle as suggested by Councillor Rob Heaton at a recent meeting in Glen Williams.

The recommendation to purchase the Sable wagon from Park Lincoln was carried eight to four. Councillors Ron Chatten, Al Cook, Rob Heaton and Gail Rutherford voted against the recommendation.

Elston expects fall election call

By JANET BAINE
Staff writer

Liberal Opposition House Leader Murray Elston is predicting an election this fall and there appears to be no doubt in his mind that the Liberals will win.

He told about 50 Liberal supporters at a fundraising evening Wednesday night at North Halton Golf Club that he used to think the NDP government would wait until the spring before calling an election. But he has since changed his mind, because he believes some senior NDP members want to run municipally and are pressuring Premier Bob Rae to call an election sooner.

Elston admitted that Liberals made some mistakes when they were at the helm of the province.

"We made some errors in judgment. One of the errors in judgment was not telling people we were capable and able to do the work," he said. He has learned that in the business of politics, you can't be bashful and downplay your abilities, because no one else will outline your accomplishments for you, he said.

"When we take over the government, there is going to be a struggle over how much should or shouldn't be done," with respect to education, he said. "Maybe the best thing we could do for education is to say we will leave you alone for the next five years to deliver the programs in the classroom."

Elston said he has a special interest in the education system, since he has five children who are in Grades 2 to 11. While his topic for the evening was Liberals in Action, he kept coming back to the education issue.

He doesn't want to see year-round education because "kids need time just to play," he said.

Elston pointed out that the Liberals have released policy papers on education, safe communities, jobs and is also looking into agricultural issues.

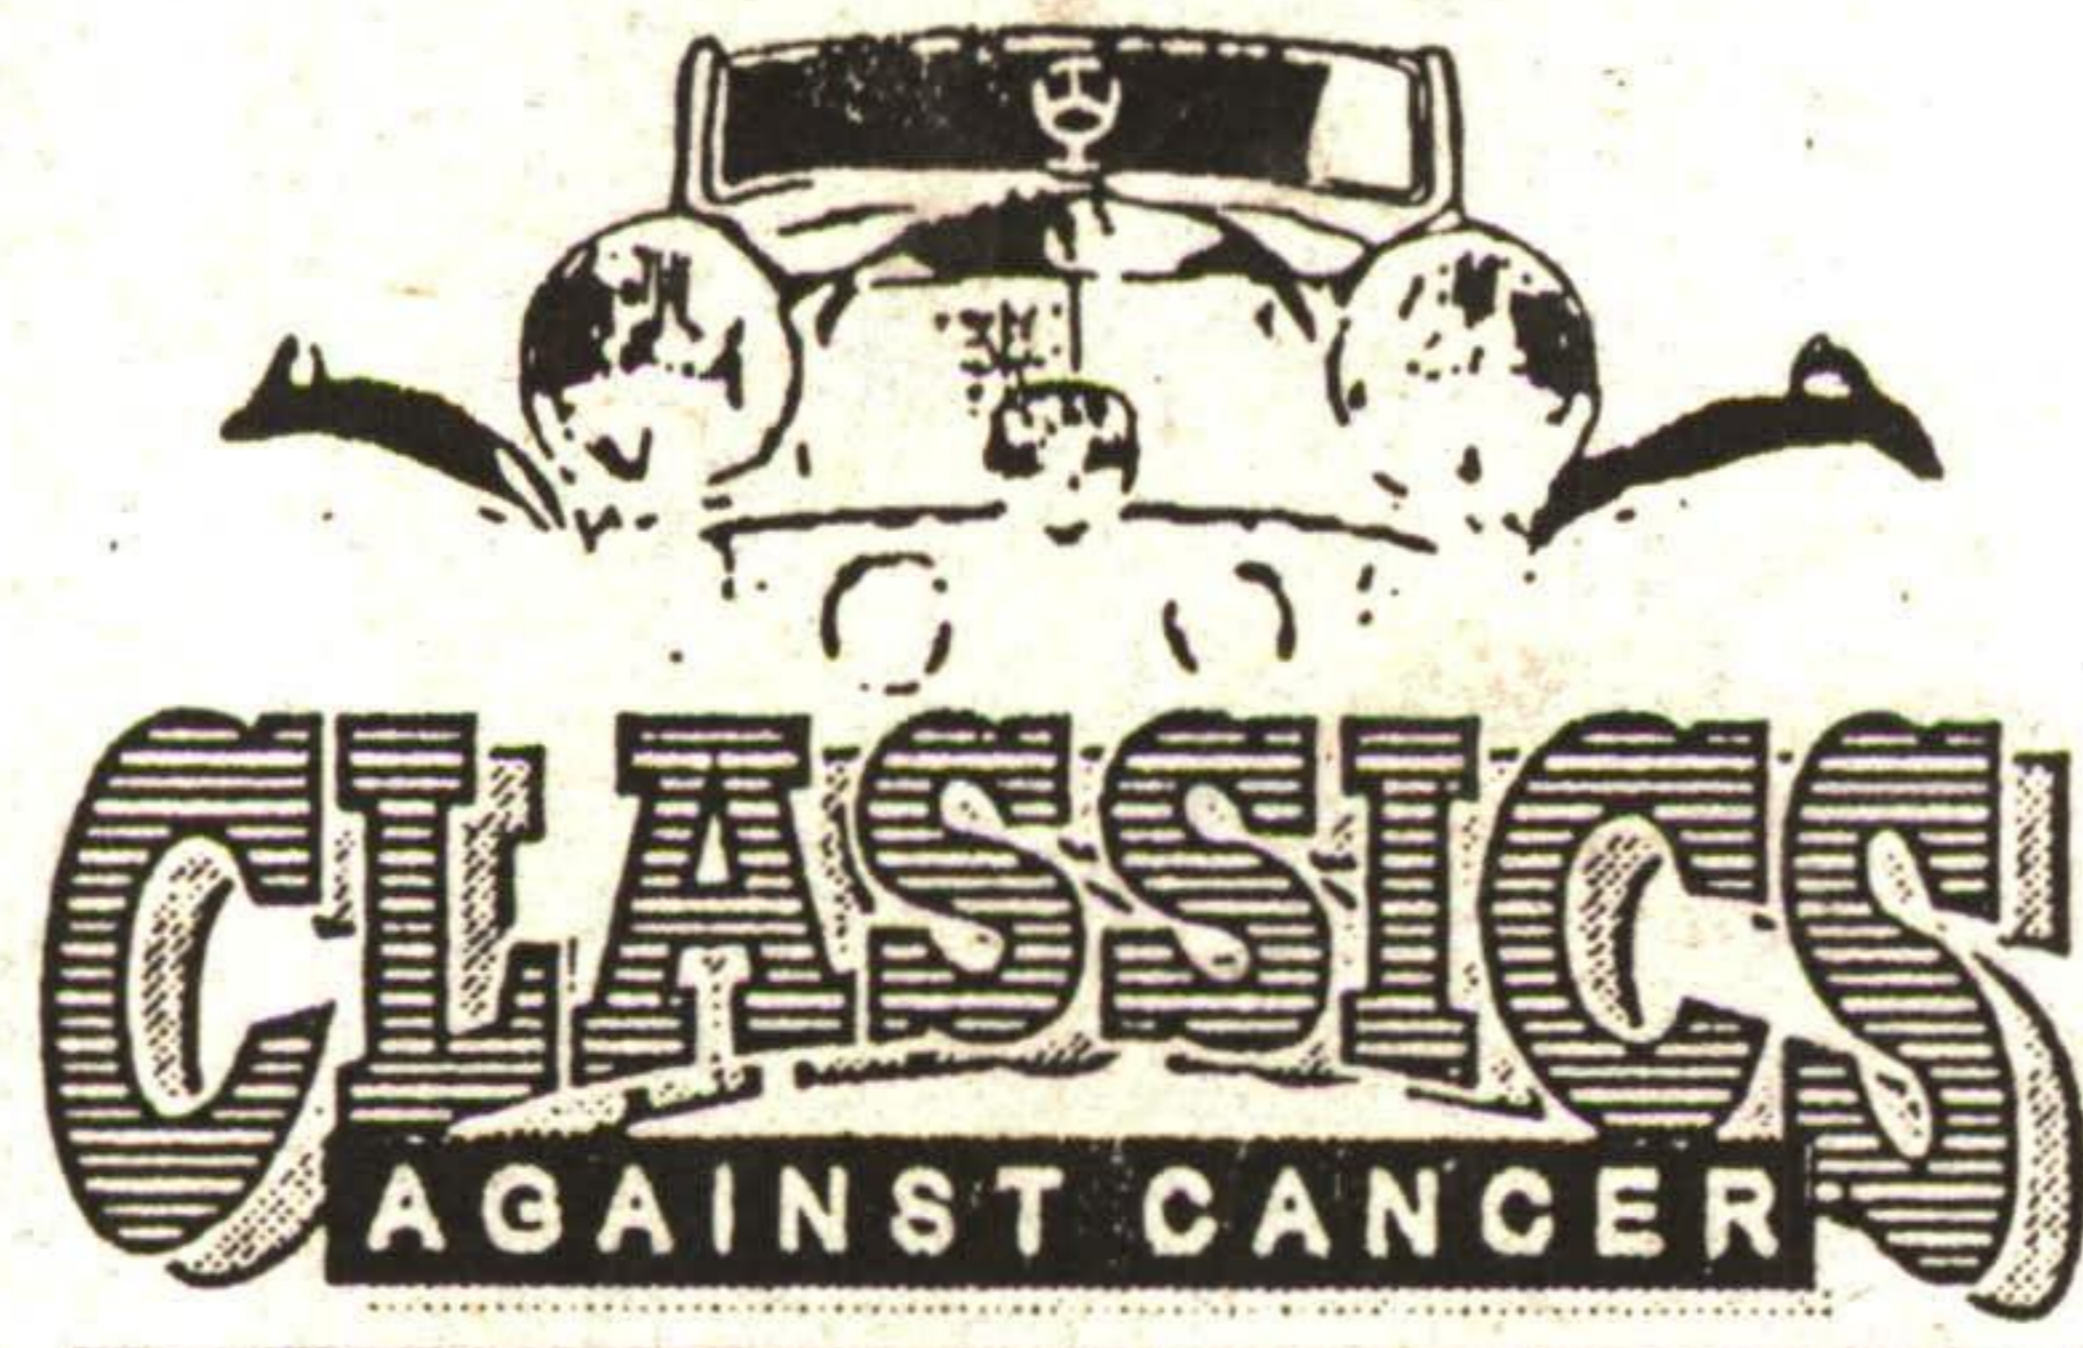

"We are setting the principles, we're setting the basis for all the decisions to be taken," he said.

Elston, a resident of Wingham, spoke very highly of the Liberal candidate for Halton North, Walt Elliot. Elliot took the opportunity to predict a very strong future for the province.

"I have to say that the next 10 years are going to be the most buoyant time in the history of the province. The only thing that will stop us is attitude," he said.
