

ACTON FOR BUSINESS FOR BUSINESS ACTON

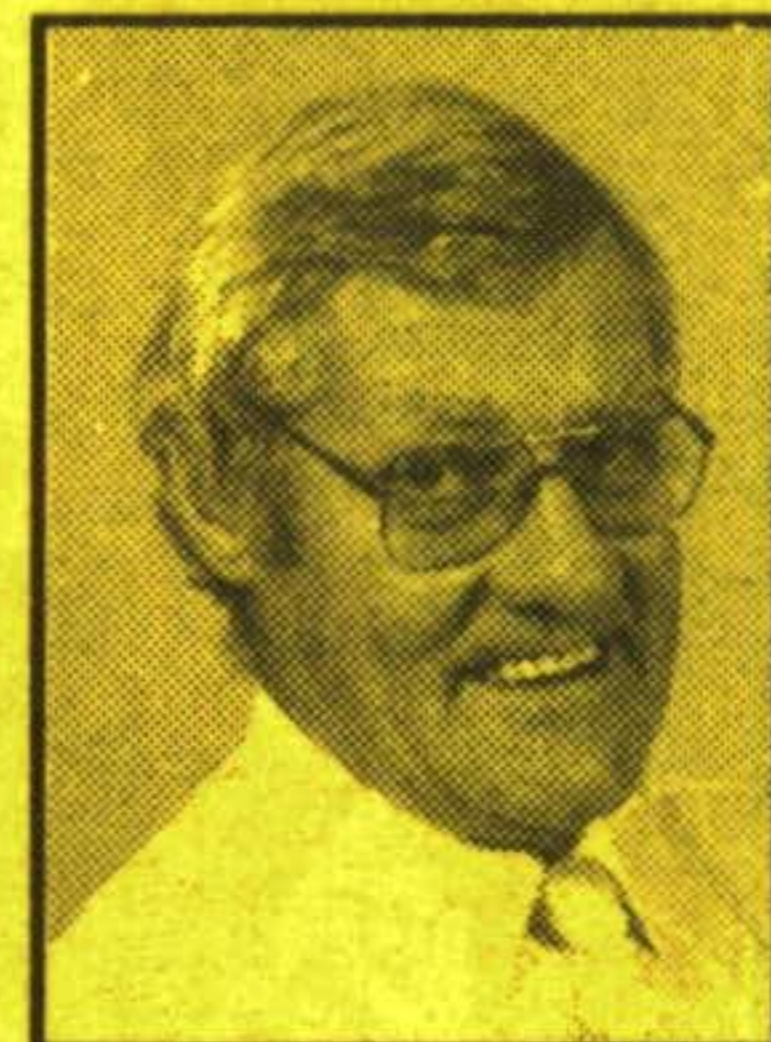

Jake Kuiken says he's "learned fast," since he opened Clocks and Curios Plus in Acton two years ago. He's had to. Before opening his Mill St. outlet, Kuiken was proprietor of Halton Hills Furniture and Appliances for 20 years. Now, Kuiken is specializing in clocks and curios.

"We have more than 100 different types of clocks and all types of curios," says Kuiken.

The inventory is on display in a 1,600 sq. ft. showroom where, he says, "There's something for everyone." This point is clear when it comes to prices. The clocks, for example, are priced from as low as $2 and make excellent gifts.

"We have anniversary clocks, kitchen clocks, wall-hanging clocks, miniature clocks and grandfather clocks," Kuiken says, adding that the grandfather clocks are the most popular.

Clocks and Curios Plus also offers clock repairs. Whether it's a new clock or a clock that's been repaired, Kuiken backs up his products with excellent warranties. In addition to the clocks, Clocks and Curios Plus carries a vast array of curio cabinets. These include wall-hanging and free-standing curios. Some are in solid oak. But if you think that clocks and curios are the only things Kuiken sells, then you're in for a pleasant surprise.

"That's where the 'Plus' comes in," he says, referring to the name of his business.

This "Plus" includes color television sets, stereos, roll top desks, bars and stools, and a whole lot more.

So if you're interested in a clock, curio cabinet, or something entirely different, why not stop in at Clocks and Curios Plus. You'll find the showroom at 5 Mill St. East in Acton. You can also give Kuiken a call at 853-5062. He'll be more than pleased to help you select the ideal gift for someone else or yourself.
