Bylaw exemption requested

By LISA TALLYN
Staff writer

Gordon McLean of Panorama Investment Group Ltd., which runs a trucking and warehouse operation on Steeles Ave., was at council Monday night requesting an exemption to the interim control bylaw council recently imposed on the Steeles Ave. - 401 industrial corridor.

The bylaw, which will be in effect until a study of the corridor is complete (about eight months), allows for only agricultural uses, parks and recreational facilities in the corridor. It was imposed as a result of the proposal by Equity Waste Management to build a composting facility in the corridor.

McLean said they are only about two weeks away from receiving a building permit to begin building a transfer station on their property at the west end of the corridor.

He added the company has the financing lined up and has committed to the expansion.

"The new facility is needed. It must be complete by the spring of 1995," said McLean. "The bylaw caught us totally by surprise."

Council decided not to grant the exemption Monday night and deferred it for two weeks so the town solicitor can provide a legal opinion on the ramifications of the request.
