Namesake claims Stakes race

Georgetown resident Bob Standing has been involved owning harness horses with a group of friends for years, but there's one colt currently racing that is causing high fits because he's not a part-owner.

No Standing Around, a two year-old pacing colt named after Standing, was an impressive winner of a $59,575 division of the Nassagaweya Stakes on Saturday, September 17th at Mohawk Raceway. Driven by Doug Brown, No Standing Around defeated seven rivals in a mile of 1:55.2.

Last fall the group, headed by trainer John Hayes of Beamsville, were looking for a yearling to buy at the sales in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. They came home with a colt named Bill Aldous for $15,000 U.S.

Before the sale however, Standing decided to take a pass on going in on the prospective purchase.

And since then the good natured ribbing hasn't stopped.

"The joke was we'd buy a horse and name him after Bob," laughed Hayes. "When he (Bill Aldous) was training down and going good we decided this was the one we'd change the name to Notwithstanding was rejected, as it had been taken by a previous horse. "Instead we called him No Standing Around," said Hayes. "Bob loves a good joke and doesn't mind being at the burnt of this."

Since hitting the racetrack, No Standing Around has been anything but funny to his opponents. Saturday night's victory was his fifth in six starts and he's already earned $49,832 for the, you guessed it, NotwithBob Stable of Beamsville, Ontario.

The $15,000 colt has turned out to be a bargain. "He had an ear infection as a foal so he stood with his head tilted," explained Hayes. "I think that scared some (prospective bidders) away."

"He's as good a (two year old) colt as I've driven this year," said Brown. "He's a tough little guy."

For Standing it appears his namesake will continue to haunt him for a long time to come.
