

Chorus selling poinsettias

Halton Hills Children's Chorus has been involved in a Christmas fundraiser — selling poinsettias to the Georgetown community.

The organizations would like to thank the Halton Hills community for their tremendous support and gives special thanks to Oxbow Books on Main St. in Georgetown for generously donating the first prize $20 gift certificate. First prize winner was Louisa Von Heynitz, second prize winner was Luke Hoekstra and third prize winner was Megan Davis.

Logo contest open to north Halton residents

The logo contest sponsored by the North Halton Cultural Awareness Council (NHCAC) is open to all residents or former residents of north Halton, including Acton, Georgetown, Milton and Esquesing.

The council's mission is "to promote cultural and racial harmony and tolerance in north Halton through education and peaceful action."

They are looking for a logo, which must be 8 in. by 10 in. and in black and white.

All entries should include the name, address and phone number on a separate page and must be received by Dec. 31.

The winner will receive $100 and the logo will be used on correspondence materials by the organization.

Entries should be addressed to Tom Ramautarsingh, chairman of Logo Contest and can be dropped off at The Independent/Free Press, 211 Armstrong Ave. or Kentner's Catering, 62 Mill St. in Georgetown, or at the Acton High School office.

Walkman winner

Andy and Effie Katsilieris recently presented 13-year-old Kelly Soutiere with the grand prize in the McKenzie-Smith Pizza Day raffle draw. Soutiere won the Sharp Walkman AM/FM Cassette Player after participating in the school's pizza days. Katsilieris, owner of Andy's Family Dining and Pizzeria of Mill St. in Acton, has been supplying pizzas to the school for the pizza days since September. The Pizza Days are held the first Wednesday of every month.
