Preschool puppetry

During the final week of the Halton Hills Recreation Department's preschool playshop, the little ones were entertained by Janet Cullen and her furry little friend, (operated by husband Tom) as they presented a short puppet show at Acton Arena, followed by a visit from Santa. The preschool playshop, a ten week program, meets at the Prospect Park Boathouse. The next program starts in January 1995.

Local councillors pleased with regional chair choice

"I will never make a deal. No one knows me to do that." She said she was pleased with the support she received from Halton Hills.
"I feel very encouraged by that. The people I have worked with over the past 12 years know when it comes to decision making (the municipalities) don't have boundaries. Issues that affect Halton Hills also affect other parts of the region."
When asked if the chair should be elected by the public Savoline said "I believe it is time for a change" but she wants to hear what the region's review committee has to say.
After the vote Robson said he was pleased Savoline was the new chair.
"I've known her for three years," said Robson. "She is not a radical at all. Joyce is moderate, temperate and thoughtful." He added he believes she has an understanding of north Halton issues and said it is a step in the right direction to have a woman chairing regional council.
Cook who nominated Mayor Krantz said while he was disappointed Krantz didn't win the post he thinks Savoline will do an excellent job.
"I know her well. Joyce does a good job," said Mayor Serjeantson adding she considers Savoline a friend. "She has knowledge of a lot of things. We made a good choice."
New regional councillor Day said he met with each candidate for the job and added Savoline "stood out in the crowd." He added it was a tough call however because he felt the others were worthy of the job as well.
Local councillor Rob Heaton who announced earlier he would run for the job was not nominated by any regional council member.
"They chose to support someone in the inner circle," said Heaton after the inaugural meeting. "It makes me feel a little cautious because most of the growth (in Halton) is probably going to be in the north, but it will be controlled by the south."
Savoline's vacant council seat has to be filled by a Burlington representative within 60 days.
It will be up to Burlington city council to decide whether the new councillor is elected or appointed to the position.
