New Georgetown food bank seeking home

Georgetown food bank, which is still in the planning stages, is in desperate need of a home.

Colleen Brown, who is attempting to open the food bank this fall, said according to town bylaws the facility should be located in an industrial area.

Brown said the food bank requires 1,000 sq. ft. of space and would prefer free rent but could pay as much as $500 per month including utilities.

She said the food bank would include shelves stocked with non-perishable food items, three to four family size freezers, one to two refrigerators, a desk and phone line. She added the food bank would provide its own liability insurance.

Brown said ideally the bank would be open one evening per week and Saturday mornings for food distribution and a member of the food bank's board of directors would likely work there about two-and-a-half days a week.

Anyone who may have some space available to house the food bank should call Brown at 877-2893 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Donations of food and money are also being sought. Brown said financial donations can be made at the Georgetown Municipal Trust branch into The Georgetown Bread Basket account.

Correction

■ In the Mayor's Message in the Wednesday edition, a paragraph should have read: "I anticipate a separate yard waste collection for August 19 only." The Independent & Free Press apologizes for the error.

WHEN EXERCISE IS NOT ENOUGH!

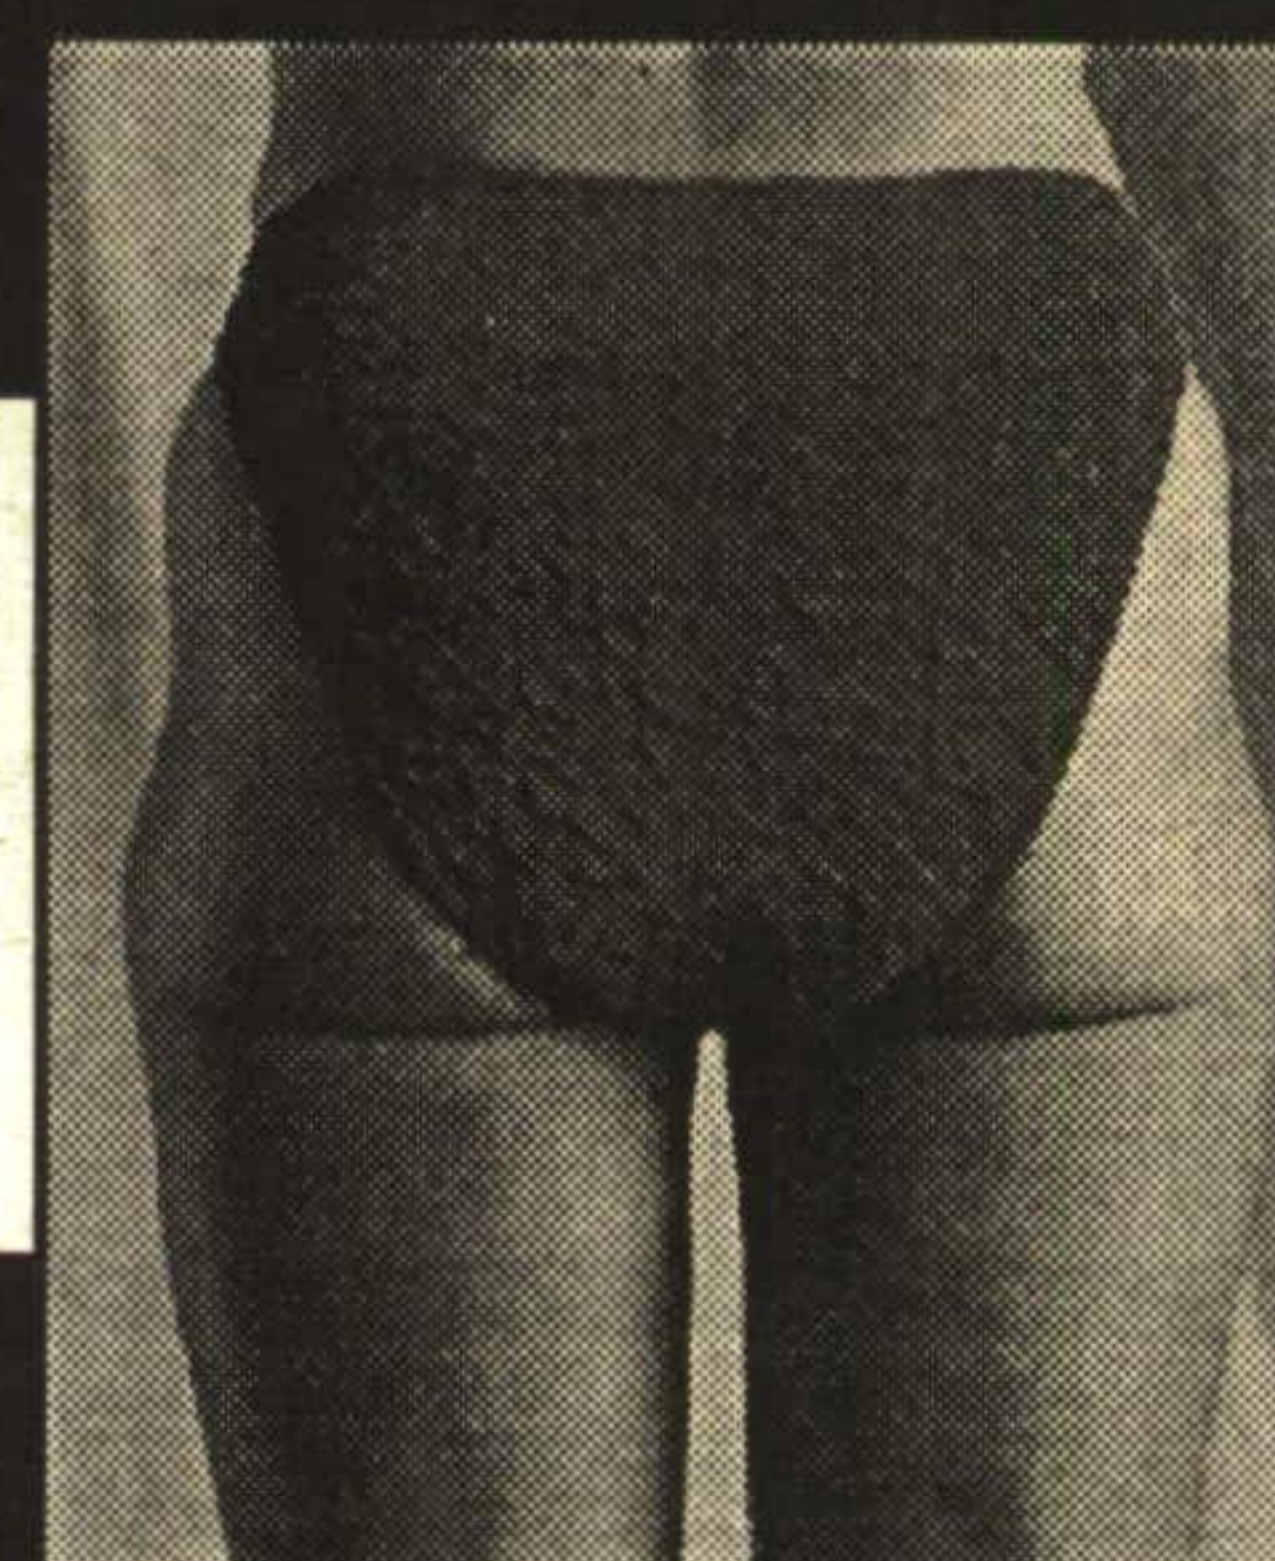

Body sculpting by liposuction is literally a dream come true.

Localized accumulations of fat, which may be inherited and sometimes impossible to eliminate by exercise or dieting, can now be removed permanently by liposuction, never to plague you again.

AFTER

The concept of liposuction is surprisingly simple. It is a technique that improves the body's contour by removing excess fat from fatty deposits located between the muscle and the skin. Fat cells that are removed by liposuction never grow back.

In women, the most frequently treated areas are the abdomen, hips, knees, calves, chin and neck.

In men, the most commonly treated areas include the love handles, abdomen, breasts, chin and neck.
