Old nemesis nixes Major Mosquito Eagles in local tournament

The Georgetown Major Mosquito Eagles have seen enough of Bolton for one year.

Bolton, who hosted the recent tournament, came from behind twice to hand the Eagles a pair of losses. The Eagles won two games in the three-day tourney to advance to the championship round but the Georgetown was eliminated by its nemesis.

After dropping a 14-1 decision to a strong Toronto team to start the championship round, the Eagles started strong against Bolton. Gavin Aldridge's home run and a three-run triple by Chris Stephan gave the Eagles an early lead. Meanwhile catcher Joel Hamilton and Alex Barkhouse provided excellent defence. However, Bolton rallied for the win.

Georgetown started the tournament against Bolton. Backed by the strong pitching of Michael Zelek and the bats of Thomas Elinesky and Sean Graham, who each had a pair of doubles, the Eagles had a six-run lead. Bolton would not be denied on its own field, though, coming back for a 10-9 victory.

The next day the Eagles came back strong. Stefan Scola pitched Georgetown to 7-4 victory and then Alex MacLeod and Steve Hayes combined for the win in a 6-3 triumph over Islington. Matt Tales paced the offence in the Islington game by going 4 for 4. The two wins advanced Georgetown to the championship round.
