

Enjoy CaddyStacks mini-golf in the library

Fore! Join the Friends of the Halton Hills Public Library for a round of golf at the Georgetown Branch of the Halton Hills Public Library, where the entire building is converted into an indoor 9-hole professional miniature golf course.

This one day of fun for the whole family is the principal fundraiser for the Friends of the Halton Hills Public Library.

On Saturday, March 19, patrons will be able to putt their way around the Library during the day as part of the Family Open. In the evening, after closing, The Masters will be hosted by the Friends. This will be a gala fundraising mini-golf evening in the Library with refreshments, hors d'oeuvres and a silent auction.

Proceeds from the Family Open and The Masters will go towards enhancing the outdoor experience for the public at both the Georgetown and Acton Branches. Raising funds for the Acton Reading Deck and the Georgetown Outdoor Plaza will be the goal of this ongoing annual event. Creating great places and dynamic spaces is one of the Library's strategic goals, says Friends Chair Mark Rowe. I want to thank our major sponsors, The Club at North Halton and The Georgetown Group Limited, and the many other local businesses who are supporting this event.

These outdoor spaces are going to be amazing additions to these two community hubs, he said. The entire Georgetown Branch will be transformed into a mini golf course by Ace2Putt. We hope the community will come out to this unique event.

The Family Open takes place March 19, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.. Adult tickets cost $10; child ticket is $5.

The Masters takes place the same day from 6:30-10 p.m. Tickets are $50.

All tickets are available at both locations of the Halton Hills Public Library.
