Birthday twins collect 346 lbs. of food for the Bread Basket

Twins, Aiden and Daniel Thibaudeau, who for their fourth birthday in a row have asked their friends to bring food donations for the local food bank instead of presents, surpassed their goal.

Last year for their sixth birthday they collected 104 lbs. of food, which equalled their combined weights. This year for their seventh birthday, they wanted to collect more than their now-combined weight of 120 lbs.

However when the food was taken to the Georgetown Bread Basket food bank last month, they had a total of 346 lbs. collected!

Daniel said, I like collecting food for our birthday because we can help people who don't have as much as we do.

Next year we want to collect 400 lbs. of food!, added Aiden.

The boys would also like to thank all of their classmates from Ecole Sacre Coeur who brought donations to their party. They hope this will encourage everyone to give back to the community whenever they can.
