Acton library branch marks its fifth anniversary

Several family-friendly activities took place during the event and Cosima performed her Cozy Music Show for the attendees.

Residents were also asked to take part in interactive activities such as the Community Journalling Project and asked what their favourite memory of the Acton branch of the library, as well as a photographic retrospective.

Painting on a bright face at Community Open House

The Halton Hills Cooperative Program Planning Committee recently hosted Community Open House at the Georgetown Market Place mall, highlighting the many groups and organizations that provide services to community members and enhance the community overall.

The theme for the event this year was Leap-into Action in your Community, which built on the idea of ways in which citizens can work together to develop a strong community by supporting local organizations.

This event provides a tremendous opportunity for non-profit organizations, sport and recreation groups, social service agencies and groups that serve our residents to showcase them to the Halton Hills community, said Mayor Rick Bonnette, in a press release.
