

Local martial arts studio owner facing immigration charges

The Canada Border Services Agency's criminal investigators have charged a local martial arts club owner with nine offences related to the unauthorized employment of foreign nationals under the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act (IRPA).

Felix Kofi Ayensu of Caledon is charged with six counts of unauthorized employment of foreign nationals; two counts of misrepresentation; and one count of counselling misrepresentation.

The five-month investigation revealed that the accused, Ayensu, allegedly employed several foreign nationals who were not authorized to work in Canada.

The foreign nationals were recruited overseas and brought into Canada to teach taekwondo at the accused's three local martial arts studios: Olympic Tae-kwondo/Karate Inc., Georgetown Taekwondo Martial Arts Inc., and Milton Olympic Taekwondo/Karate Inc.

Ayensu is scheduled to appear at the Ontario Court of Justice in Milton.

An arrest warrant has been issued pursuant to the IRPA for Rolando Fortes Futalan, who is party to the offence in some of the charges. His whereabouts are currently unknown.

Police investigate break-in Halton Regional Police are investigating an apparent break and enter at a Husky gas station in Georgetown Friday morning.

Police responded to an alarm call at 12:47 a.m. at the station, located at Guelph St. and Sinclair Ave., and discovered that someone had forced their way into the kiosk.

Some cigarettes were stolen but the total amount taken was not known and any information on suspects was not immediately available.

Anyone with information is asked to call the HRPS at 905-878-5511 ext. 2415 or Crime Stoppers Halton at 1-888-222-TIPS (8477).
