

WHEELS

TOUGH STUFF: The toughest, smartest, most capable F-150 Raptor ever is getting a specially developed set of BFGoodrich tires that improve both on- and off-road performance while increasing comfort. Raptor's all-new BFGoodrich all-terrain T/A KO2 tires were developed in parallel with the truck's chassis, so as the platform developed, the tires changed along with it. Ford and BFGoodrich engineers went through more than a dozen variations to ensure the tires matched the extreme performance expected from Raptor. Hundreds of hours were spent using computer simulations to predict how the tires would react in real-world driving situations.
