After 21 years, Top Drawer Cabinetry is proud to announce that former owner and creator George Riddall will be retiring from the business and is excited to announce the new ownership will be handled by former right hand man Chris R Denomme. George has been a part of the industry for 55 years. He started at the age of 15 working for Mino Mill Work and was with the shop for 21 years. George then went into a shop in Acton for two years. At this time he decided to leave and start working out of his garage and named the company George W Riddall Custom Carpentry Inc which was quickly switched to George W Riddall Custom Cabinetry. George had his right hand Chris working with him at the time and the demands were so large they needed a large space. It was then they decided to purchase this location on Armstrong and renamed the business Top Drawer Cabinetry. 21 years later and they are still at the same location. George specializes in all aspects of the business but prides himself on the design concepts. I like communicating with clients and making their dreams come true! Kitchens, fireplace mantels, large wall units & bathroom vanities are just some of the many options we offer to our clients says George.

George is a valued member of our community and involves himself in many local charities such as The Hospital Foundation, Bears that Care, Local Hockey, Leathertown Festival, United Way and the Halton Hills Fire Alumni and served in the Kinsmen Club for 10 yrs. He is a proud to give back to his community and his dedicated clients. Customer's loyalty is a huge part of my success, I am on call for all their needs and ready to help! My business is my love & my life says George.

George has also welcomed local co-op high school students to come and have their co-op hours spent learning in the shop. In a male dominated industry he has also hired women in the shop and encourages all talent! Not only is George a successful business owner and design developer but also a proud husband to Shelley and father to Leslie Riddall and Mark Riddall.

Top Drawer Cabinetry is proud to announce Chris R Denomme is now the New Owner and also Master Cabinet Maker of the business. With more than 20+ years experience, Chris is looking forward to keeping the strong reputation the company prides themselves with. I have been in the wood working industry and interested in wood working all my life. Starting in middle school wood shop till present. Chris's training has been a lifetime of on the job training. Starting in the custom home building industry and then moving into his current position in the cabinetry industry.

Chris chose this career because of the level of difficulty and the finer points that go along with the finished product. At the end of each job, seeing the big picture and what has been created is an addiction he can't get enough of. Chris will go to work looking forward to creating something of quality and beauty. Top Drawer Cabinetry manufactures custom pieces of cabinetry for mainly residential and commercial applications, such as: kitchen cabinets, bathroom vanities, wall units, bars, fireplace surrounds and mantels are also included. Top Drawer Cabinetry is a design build company and they manufacture most of the pieces that go into a cabinet using the finest raw materials to ensure our level of quality and to guarantee a life time of performance.

What I like about what I do is I bring people's dreams to life and put them in front of them to enjoy, most time exceeding the expectations in the process says Chris.

Chris grew up in Halton Hills and feels it is his home and where he feels the most grounded. The feelings I have about Halton Hills are also shared by the community of customers I have had the pleasure working with and for says Chris.
