summer pet safety tips

Water, Water and More Water- It's essential, especially during the summer, that pets have water and lots of it.
Make sure your animals have shelter- Both cats and dogs need a place where they can get out of the hot sun and actually feel the temperature drop several degrees.

Don't exercise your pet in the heat of the day. Your pets come with a built-in fur coat, please be aware of the heat and humidity as well as the temperature of the asphalt. If you put the back of your hand down on the ground, you should be able to hold it there comfortably for 5 seconds. If not, the surface is too hot for your pets paw pads and they can be burned.
