New cycling signage constructed in Georgetown and Acton

New cycling and pedestrian directional signs have been installed in Georgetown and Acton.

The first signs were installed at the corner of Church St. E. and Eastern Ave. in Acton earlier this month. This is a project led by the Halton Hills Bicycle Friendly Community Committee.

Directional signage encourages cycling and walking by showing how short the distance is to major attractions in the community. The signs act as a constant reminder that walking and cycling are reasonable and desirable ways for people to travel within Town, said Mayor Rick Bonnette.

Regional Councillor Jane Fogal, Chair of the cycling committee added, this is the first step in a larger program to identify safe cycling routes throughout the community. The Committee's next project will involve directional signage to and from the Greenbelt Route which passes through Halton Hills along the Niagara Escarpment. The goal is to direct cycle tourists to local commercial districts via safe and interesting routes.

The funding for the 100 signs at 20 locations was received from Smart Commute Halton via a Transportation Demand Management Innovation Grant. Councillor Fogal and fellow committee member Ryan Carney were on hand to approve the design and give the go ahead to order the remainder of the signs which should all be installed before the end of August.

Directional signage for cycling routes is one of many initiatives of the Halton Hills Bicycle Friendly Community Committee. Other projects include the Halton Hills Community Bike Challenge which is ongoing until the goal of 400,000 kms has been logged by residents on a dedicated website www.haltonhillsbikechallenge.ca

When completed, $85,000 will be donated by corporate sponsors to the Georgetown Hospital Foundation. The committee also organizes other cycling events listed on the Town's website www.haltonhills.ca/Cycling-Events/. The committee advocates for safer cycling infrastructure and is seeking new members. Anyone interested in becoming involved should contact Councillor Jane Fogal via email janefogal@haltonhills.ca
