Charalambides shines but Northmen edged in Minto final

Local resident Adam Charalambides turned in one of the best individual performances in the history of the Minto Cup, only to see his Orangeville Northmen come up just short of winning the Canadian Jr. A lacrosse championship Monday night in Langley, B.C.

Playing eight games in nine days, the Northmen squeaked through the preliminary round with a 1-2 record before engaging with the Coquitlam Adanacs in what would become a classic best-of-5 final.

The 20-year-old former Halton Hills Jr. B Bulldog racked up 17 goals and 16 assists to lead the tournament in scoring, yet the Northmen were edged 6-5 in overtime Monday in the fifth-and-deciding game of the hard-fought final.

Charalambides, a graduate of the Halton Hills Minor Lacrosse Association program, is just the seventh player in Minto Cup history to record more than 30 points during the tournament and the only Orangeville player to have ever achieved the feat.

Georgetown resident Drayden Patey served as the backup netminder for the Northmen in the Minto Cup final and Halton Hills Jr. B Bulldogs goalkeeper Drew Coleman also made the trip to Langley as a depth player.

CAMPING OUT: The fourth-annual Pasma's Hockey Development camp was again at full capacity for its two weeks on the ice at the Mold-Masters SportsPlex. Rod Pasma, the National Hockey League's vice president of Hockey Operations, wanted to give back to his hometown by establishing the camp. Instructors include local natives such as Dallas Stars first-round draft pick Jason Dickinson, Connor Brown of the ECHL's Quad City Mallards, Sacred Heart University's Liam Clare and Montreal Canadiens property Michael McNiven oversaw the netminders. The PHD camp also collected more than 1,000 non-perishable food items, which were donated to the Georgetown Bread Basket and the Salvation Army. McVeigh golden on OSG mats

Winning all three of his matches convincingly, teenager Myles McVeigh brought home the gold medal in the sport of wrestling in the 16-and-under boys division at the Ontario Summer Games in Mississauga earlier this month.

McVeigh, 15, took two of his matches with technical victories (stopped after a 10-point advantage) and the other by pinning his opponent.

The Grade 11 Georgetown District High School student represented the Ontario Central West Region, one of six teams competing from across the province.

McVeigh qualified for the meet after winning the regionals in May.
