Halton hosts farm-to-chef culinary event at Toronto Premium Outlets

This Thursday, Harvest Halton's preview event at Toronto Premium Outlets is taking place from 12-3 p.m.

An annual premier culinary event, Harvest Halton brings the region's finest restaurants and local farmers together for an unforgettable farm-to-chef experience.

Agriculture is important to Halton, and Harvest Halton and the Pumpkins to Pastries Trail provide us with wonderful opportunities to showcase our local farmers, retailers, restaurants and attractions, said Halton Regional Chair Gary Carr. These events are a great way to bring family and friends together to enjoy locally-grown food and help us support our local agricultural community and our regional economy.

During this preview event, guests will have an opportunity to meet with local farmers and top chefs to learn more about the importance of buying local. Vendors from local agritourism businesses and farmers will be onsite at the Simply Local Marketplace with items available for purchase (cash only).

This will be followed by another event in downtown Oakville on Sunday, Oct. 16 from 1-4 p.m. Visit halton.ca/harvest for more details and to see which farmers and restaurants will be featured at each event.

The preview Harvest Halton event kicks off the start of Halton's popular Pumpkins to Pastries Trail, running from Sept. 12-Oct. 31. Join the Trail and experience the best local cuisine, on-farm markets, specialty shops, events and attractions in Halton.

The Trail showcases how agriculture is thriving in Halton and is a great opportunity for residents and visitors to get a taste of the harvest season by exploring the region's local offerings, meeting the people and seeing the places that offer and produce local food.

Visit halton.ca/p2ptrail for an interactive online guide or drop by the Toronto Premium Outlets information centre, local Tourism offices or participating establishments to pick up a print copy of the map to lead you down the Trail!

This year's Trail participants can also snap and win with Halton Region's Selfie Contest. Simply snap a selfie on the Trail and post the picture on Facebook, Twitter or Instagram using the hashtag #p2ptrail to enter for a chance to win a prize basket of fantastic local offerings.

Prizes will be awarded weekly and your picture could be featured on Halton's trail gallery. Visit halton.ca/p2ptrail for contest rules and to view the gallery.
