

ACTON Fall Fair

Kate Hendry and Ted Tyler photos

Knights of Columbus assist with Fair

By Mike Hedley

Kazi Borkowski, Grand Knight of the Acton Knights of Columbus, says "the partnership between the Knights and the Acton Agricultural Society and Fair Board is one that works well for both" and is pleased "to work together to make the Acton Fall Fair the best in Ontario."

The Knights of Columbus have been working with the Fair for over 12 years, manning ticket sales, taking tickets, providing overnight security on the grounds and perimeter security, parking control during the fair days and directing exhibitor vehicles and tractors and farm tractors to the pulling areas for the tractor and truck pulls.

It takes a lot of manpower and man-hours to help keep things moving smoothly during the Fair, and the 45 to 50 Knights volunteers put in 694 hours just during the 48 hours the Fair is open. In addition to that, Knights volunteers are busy Wednesday and Thursday setting up signage in the grounds, preparing the parking areas and then after it's all over, cleaning up the grounds.

Volunteers make the Fair work, and groups like the Knights of Columbus make it work well.