

Kingdom Rock at Bethel Kids Camp

The voices of approximately 175 registered kids and at least 70 volunteers and their kids were raised in joyous song all last week at Kingdom Rock, the Vacation Bible School – Bethel Kids Camp – offered at Bethel Christian Reformed Church.

With crafts, sports, drama, and lots of music and prayer, the camp offered free fun to kids who spent their mornings playing, creating, and making friends, all under the watchful eye of volunteers wearing blue shirts with the words: God's Love in Action.

Camp co-ordinator Samantha de Roos said it took a large group of volunteers to make the week-long camp a reality – there was no camp last year because of construction at the church. “The kids love it – most of the kids don’t come to our church – they’re from the community and want to have fun and make new friends,” de Roos said during last Thursday’s opening session before the kids broke away into different activities.

OPENING PRAISE: Kingdom Rock, the Vacation Bible School at Bethel Christian Reformed Church, opened with daily song and prayer last week. – Frances Learment photo

PRINCESS DORTHIA: Dorthia, Princess of the King of Kings, greeted Acton kids who attended the Kingdom Rock Vacation Bible School at Bethel Christian Reformed Church last week. – Frances Learment photo

STAND STRONG: Most of the 175 children at Kingdom Rock, the Bethel Vacation Bible School, performed for their families during a camp-ending barbecue/fun day on Sunday afternoon. – George Wang photo

GAMES GALORE: Acton kids who enjoyed themselves at Vacation Bible School all last week wrapped up with a barbecue and games at Bethel Christian Reformed Church on Sunday. – George Wang photo

BOUNCY FUN: Food, fun and fellowship were on the menu at Bethel Christian Reformed Church on Sunday as participants of last week’s Kingdom Rock Vacation Bible School attended a family barbecue. – George Wang photo