Ready to party?

The holidays are the most festive time of the year, and no holiday season is complete without a party. While it's always great to be a guest, hosting a holiday party is a great way to show friends and family how much they mean to you. Here are some suggestions:

- * Make it a themed party. For example, a Christmas sweater party, where each guest wears a Christmas sweater, can be a fun way to excite guests and inspire a few laughs. If sweaters aren't your thing, encourage guests to dress up like some favourite holiday characters.

- * Don't forget the holiday fare. Few people indulge in eggnog outside of the holiday season, so make sure there's plenty on hand. And don't forget the gingerbread cookies.

- * Host a holiday giveaway. Though it can be fun to do a Secret Santa, chances are guests already have enough gifts to buy. But hosts can spice things up with a holiday giveaway that rewards guests.

- * Don't be afraid to take it outside. For those who live in regions with significant snowfall, consider inviting guests outside to have some fun in the snow – maybe a snowball fight in the backyard.

- * Prearrange some transportation home for guests. A successful holiday party is one that is safe, so be sure to prearrange travel home for guests just in case anyone overindulges in holiday cheer. When sending out invitations, seek volunteers to be designated drivers, and avoid drinking alcohol yourself. For larger parties, call a local taxi service and arrange for a couple of cabs to be on call when the party ends.
