

GET IT DONE: Your attic and roof protect your family, your home and everything in it, so make an annual inspection part of your routine maintenance. Overlooking this important task can be a very costly mistake that can impact your safety, comfort and expenses. You don't have to be an expert to identify a problem. Here's a checklist of key things to look for during an inspection: Check the level of insulation within your attic. Proper levels of insulation can keep temperatures in check, preventing moisture issues. Look for signs of rodents or raccoons. Points of entry can cause your roof to leak, while chewing can give rise to electrical fires. These uninvited houseguests can also soil spaces throughout your attic, potentially impacting air quality. What's more, they often trample and compact insulation, reducing its thermal resistance. Lastly, proper soffit air intake and roof ventilation can extend shingle life and prevent mould, roof rot, and ice dams in winter. Roof and soffit vents, baffles and fans are easy to install.
