It's not too late to protect yourself from the flu

While flu clinics hosted by the Halton Region Health Department are winding down, it's not too late to get a flu shot to protect yourself and prevent spreading the virus.

Residents can still get flu immunizations from many pharmacies, walk-in clinics and doctor's offices across Halton, as well as at the final Halton Region flu clinic.

Halton Region is hosting its last regularly scheduled influenza (flu) immunization clinic on Thursday, Dec. 8 from 4-8 p.m. at Corpus Christi Catholic Secondary School at 5150 Upper Middle Rd. in Burlington.

If residents haven't been able to receive the flu shot yet, it's important to know that it's not too late, said Halton Region's Medical Officer of Health, Dr. Hamidah Meghani.

To help protect people from the flu and its complications, we recommend everyone over six months of age, especially young children, the elderly, pregnant women and individuals with chronic diseases, receive the flu vaccine. With the vaccine available at so many different locations throughout the community, it's easier than ever to work your flu shot into your daily routine.

Vaccination is the best defense against the flu. However there are other preventative measures which can reduce your chances of becoming sick: cough and sneeze into your sleeve, wash your hands with soap and water or use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer and stay home if you are sick.

If your child is under nine years of age and requires a second dose of flu vaccine since this was his or her first flu vaccination, visit halton.ca/flu or dial 311 for information on where to get the second dose. For more information on the flu, including finding a clinic near you, visit halton.ca/flu or dial 311.

The Regional Municipality of Halton serves more than 500,000 residents in the City of Burlington, the Town of Halton Hills, the Town of Milton, and the Town of Oakville. Halton Region is committed to meeting the needs of its residents through the delivery of cost-effective, quality programs and services, including water and wastewater; Regional roads and planning; paramedic services; waste management; public health; social assistance; children's and seniors services; housing services; heritage programs; emergency management and economic development. For more information, dial 311 or visit Halton Region's website at halton.ca
