REBELS, JAGUARS ALL SQUARE: Mackenzie Ellis of the Georgetown Rebels battles for a loose puck between Clarissa Keane and Grace Williams of Christ the King's Jaguars during a high school hockey contest Monday afternoon. Third-period markers by Jessica Mellace and Clarissa Keane brought Christ the King's Jaguars back from a 2-0 deficit to earn a point with the host Rebels in a matchup at the Alcott Arena. Kiara Jefferies and Cassandra Eardley had given the 1-1-2 Rebels the lead early in the final frame before the short-staffed 0-2-1 Jaguars rallied late to earn the tie. Both teams played Wednesday afternoon before taking a couple of weeks off for the holiday break. In boys' action, Georgetown defeated Aldershot 3-1 on Tuesday.

TWISTER DAY: North Halton atom BB Twisters Addison Hauver (let) and Jayden Flowers (87) celebrate a goal in their 2-0 triumph over the Brampton Canadettes during their recent Pink in the Rink contest at the Acton Arenas. The North Halton Girls Hockey Associations Twister Day featured close to 1,000 female hockey players in a series of games and off ice proceeds were given to Cancer Assistance Services Halton Hills, with a donation of $500 made by the novice A team alone. A toy drive also took place and the collection was taken to the Halton Hills Fire Department last week for donation to the Salvation Army.

Raiders Jacked up for holidays

Caledon's Jack Jacome was in a festive mood Tuesday night, racking up four goals and two assists in the Georgetown Raiders 7-3 dismantling of the host St. Michael's Buzzers in their Ontario Junior Hockey League matchup.

In their final game before the holiday break in the regular-season schedule, the 29-4-1 Raiders jumped out to a 3-0 lead by the 8:47 mark of the opening period and cruised from there, with the diminutive Jacome moving from sixth to second in the OJHL scoring race to 20 goals and 34 assists.

Linemate Josh Dickinson collected four assists in the victory and Keegan Blasby chipped in a pair of markers as Georgetown outshot the 18-11-0-4 Buzzers 44-36. Zack Dybowski rounded out the goal scoring.

Georgetown lost just its fourth game in regulation Friday night in Oakville, a 5-3 decision against the Blades, before rebounding to beat the Buffalo Jr. Sabres 5-2 on Saturday at the Alcott Arena.

Next up for the Raiders, sitting third in this week's Canadian Junior Hockey League Rankings, is a run of four straight home games, beginning with the Stouffville Spirit on Wednesday, Jan. 4.

MCNIVEN LAST CUT: The odd man out in Team Canada's goaltending selection camp triumvirate for next week's World Junior Hockey Championships in Toronto, former Raider Michael McNiven knew heading in he'd have to really knock the socks off the decision-makers to make the final roster, which was announced last week.

I was the underdog, said McNiven.

Other than the first game I was pretty impressed with myself so it is how it is and I just hope all the boys have a good time and they bring home gold.

The 19-year-old Georgetown native and Owen Sound Attack starter could still suit up for the red and white in the 2017 WJC should Hart or Ingram get injured, as he's considered an alternate.

MAT MASTER: Myles McVeigh (right) added a third provincial title to his list of accomplishments in 2016, capturing the Ontario Ju-Jitsu Championship in the junior division in Markham earlier this month as an underage competitor. The Grade 11 Georgetown District High School student routed his opponent in the final, Aadam Lodging of Barrie, to complete a sweep of the under-17 heavyweight category. Sixteen-year-old McVeigh also won the Ontario Summer Games wrestling gold medal in August and the Ontario Amateur Wrestling Association title for the cadet 85-kg category, even though he weighed in at 77 kg.
