Workshop aids in capturing a loved ones memories

After her parents died, Georgetown resident Jackie MacFarlane found a lot of joy and comfort in the family stories she knew, but she wished she had asked more questions before it was too late.

Along with the desire to find a fundraising project for her church, these reasons were behind the development of an easy-to-use booklet called Looking Back...Memories of...

Categories include Your Family Tree, Infancy, Early Years, Public School Days, Adolescence (including a description of that first kiss), Early Adulthood, Adulthood, and there's even room for additional memories and a few photos.

The categories are generic and suit both males and females. Already in use by members of St. John's United, this booklet has served a variety of uses.

One person purchased enough copies for her family and they plan on gathering and working through the booklets together and sharing memories as they go.

Others have purchased the booklet as a gift for an older person.

MacFarlane chose to fill out the booklets for each of her four daughters and gave them as a Christmas gift.

There were certainly a few wet eyes, mine included, she said.

A workshop will run this Sunday (Jan. 15) from 12:30-2:30 p.m. at St. John's United.

Tickets for lunch and a booklet are $15 each and are available on weekday mornings from the church office at 11 Guelph St. in Georgetown (905-877-2531) or by calling MacFarlane at 905-877-7668.

Booklets are available for $10.

Seating by groups can be arranged. The church is fully accessible and there is parking at the front and back.
