

Inaugural Coldest Night of the Year event raises $13,500

Spreading awareness of the challenges faced by homeless people was the main purpose of Saturday night's Coldest Night of the Year event organized by the Georgetown Bread Basket food bank and participants faced some fairly chilly and windy conditions in what's been a relatively mild winter.

Fourteen teams, consisting of about 60 people, walked various distances around the Hillsview Active Living Centre in the early evening, with the longest route covering 10 km.

The inaugural Georgetown event raised approximately $13,500 for the nationwide campaign, which began in 2011 and has since generated more than $12 million, taking place in 114 communities this year.

GBB chair of the board Lori Brading said the funds will go towards the acquisition of infrastructure and to bolster the food purchasing program. The local volunteer-run food bank does not receive funding from any level of government relying on grants and community donations.
