

TASTY FUN: The third-annual Georgetown Bread Basket High School Cookoff turned out to be a heated kitchen affair between the two local high schools last week. Sponsored by and held at the Real Canadian Superstore in Georgetown, the culinary contest pitted students from Georgetown District High School's Chef Training program and a Hospitality course group from Christ the King Secondary School's Specialty High Skills Major class whipping up two dishes each, which were judged by a celebrity panel. CIK's winning entry was a sweet potato and bean curry with roti and sweet potato chips. The Jaguars now hold a 2-1 edge over the Rebels in the three-year history of the event, which is primarily an awareness exercise for the Bread Basket. Serving as judges for the event were Halton Hills Mayor Rick Bonnette, Georgetown Bread Basket chair of the board Lori Brading, chef, caterer and Independent & Free Press columnist Gerry Kentner, Real Canadian Superstore assistant manager Brenda Dalgleish and President's Choice chef Mary Lim. Team members holding the Golden Ladle Trophy (from left) above are: Jennifer Burtch, Adriana Pohl, Theodore Pucak and Maya Fik.
