Fire up the barbeque with the help of Rockwood Home Hardware

Nothing says springtime in Canada more than getting ready to fire up the barbeque. Home Hardware in Rockwood have a barbeque for every price point, from $350-$13,000. Owner Paul Wilson explains that their barbeques are made in Canada or the USA. "Any parts or accessories you need are available right here on the shelf as well. If you get one that's made in China and then you need to go back for parts, you can't get them."

Rockwood Home Hardware owner Paul Wilson displays a wide range of new barbecues and barbecue accessories for spring 2017.

They stock a range of barbeque accessories such as roast holders, beer can chicken, and pizza ovens. "The pizza ovens are fantastic, it's like cooking a stone-fired pizza." The higher-end barbecues are "like an outdoor kitchen, with infra-red burners at 30,000 btu, the same as in a kitchen at home."

Rockwood Home Hardware will assemble and deliver locally any barbeque you buy from them and take away your old one at no charge.

2017 is a special year for Home Hardware in Rockwood, celebrating 25 years of ownership by the Wilson family. Watch out for celebratory events mid-summer.

Sweet and Nutty quality treats

Max and Julia Gobran opened 'Sweet and Nutty' last December and already have regulars coming from Rockwood, Acton, Fergus, Erin and everywhere in-between. It's no wonder. Their wide selection of Belgian chocolate truffles are handmade in Ontario by an accredited world-acclaimed master chocolatier using ingredients shipped from Europe: nothing GMO'd, no additives or preservatives. Select hotels and 'Sweet and Nutty' are his only clients. Max explains that fine chocolate is like wine.

"The skills are handed down over generations. Tempering is dependent on the environment, the room it's made in, the time of year. One degree variance makes a difference." Best of all, every first-time visitor gets a free sample.

Their nuts are fresh-roasted, their candy fresh-pressed. "You're never going to get anything fresher than what you see here." Diversity is another hallmark. "We can make printable chocolate: photographs, business cards. We have access to over 11,000 moulds. Would you like a life-size chocolate Dracula for Hallowe'en? We can do that!" They also stock homemade fudge, sponge taffy and other goodies made by Leah of the Village Sweet Shop.

For Easter there's a selection of chocolate bunnies and eggs, including a huge 4.65 lb chocolate egg that already has pride of place. "It's all about sharing and good food, that's my philosophy," says Max, but don't take his word for it; drop by and taste for yourself.

This year owner Louisa McCarley celebrates the 40th anniversary of Willow Lane Natural Foods. The Acton health food store opened in 1977. It's evolved to become a destination store as well as a local establishment.

"As a holistic nutritionist I love helping people with health. Grandparents, parents, children, grandchildren; people move out of Acton and still come back here. We provide a community service in helping people to improve and maintain their health. That's why we're here. Our customers appreciate that we support local events, charities, fundraisers and in turn they support us. April 21 and 22 we participate in the Halton Hills Chamber of Commerce 'At Home in the Hills' Show. May 6, we're supporting the Bethel Church Women's Breakfast. Our foundation is health food and natural products but we also carry extras.

People are sometimes surprised we have Birkenstock footwear but they started in health stores, they're all about properly supported healthy feet. We have our little boutique with hand painted leather Anuschka bags. They're one of a kind and after all, we are in Leathertown. Come see us."

Acton's newest rental facility

With over 1,200 square feet, 3•7•3 is the perfect choice for corporate training with complete multi-media and wifi. 3•7•3 is a perfect choice for small parties that are too big for small basements such as birthdays, communion celebrations, baby showers and more. Maybe you have a home business and need an affordable location for a one-time special sale – 3•7•3 is the place to be. "We've had awesome feedback with our venture so far and we're really only in the beginning stages," said Angela Tyler, manager of the facility. "Our facility is fully accessible with capacity for up to 60 people. We've been busy with corporate training by quite a few local businesses and it also hosted a large local family for their Boxing Day dinner this past year." 3•7•3 offers special packages for half day, full day and multi-day bookings starting as low as $75+hst. Call today to book 519-853-0558 or email 373queen@gmail.com and of course on Facebook @373queen.
