

A GENEROUS GIFT: Organizers of a popular-annual fundraising hockey game scored big once again with Cancer Assistance Services Halton Hills (CASHh). For the past nine years, the Halton Wood Carvers have sold out the Alcott Arena in early January with a fun contest between the Halton Hills Firefighters and most recently the Pro Hockey Heroes, consisting mostly of retired Toronto Maple Leafs. This year's game generated more than $9,300 for CASHh. CASHh is conducting another hockey-related fundraiser this year, with the sale of draw tickets for an autographed Montreal Canadiens jersey of the legendary Jean Beliveau. Tickets are $5 each or three for $10 and can be purchased at the CASHh office, which is located inside the Mountainview Residence & Terrace, or at a number of upcoming community events. The draw will take place Jan. 15, 2018.
