

Talent agent coming to Georgetown this Sunday

Have you ever wanted to star in a commercial or television show? An agent from Toronto could help you out.

This Sunday, April 23 from 11 a.m.-5 p.m., talent agent Pat Jarosz will be at the Best Western, in the meeting room, to meet with kids, teens and adults to see they've got what the acting world is looking for.

The meet and greet allows Jarosz to see who is right for the business, and she can tell right from the moment they walk in the door.

I can see who has the right personality for the industry, she said. If they maintain eye contact, if they smile, if they're fidgety, and how natural they are with conversation.

Should Jarosz think you have it, she will set up another interview at another date to talk options.

Jarosz represents two brothers from Georgetown, Gavin and Ethan McIver-Whight, who are currently still working and have found success.

She also represents people who have walked the red carpet with Gerard Butler, starred in shows such as Hemlock Grove and Degrassi, and also been in commercials, such as Mott's FruitSations.

Pat Jarosz, a talent agent from Toronto, will be in Georgetown this Sunday, April 23 to seek local actors. Above, Jarosz stands with Degrassi stars Eric Osborne and Ehren Kassam.
