Alternative event to fund ACL coming September

Despite cancelling a major fundraising event to support the development of this lab, plans for the room are still moving forward.

Funds for this room are being provided from a variety of sources, said Teszeri. A big contribution has been through administrative support thanks to Paul Daigault, GDHS principal who has backed this initiative since day one. Another portion comes from grants and funding which we've applied to such as the Halton Learning Foundation. Most importantly, the support is also coming from the students. Student council has decided to also help back the ACL with some additional funding.

Teszeri explained there was a lot of interest in the Golf Classic fundraiser but had to be cancelled because there weren't enough teams registered at the cut-off date.

We are looking at postponing or running an alternative event come this September for the grand opening, with all funds going directly to the ACL, said Teszeri.

Although there are no set plans for any other ACLs for HDSB, interest in more active learning has been on the minds of many teachers, students and admin.

We are currently working to learn what our particular student body needs, and what has and has not been a success in the past with similar rooms, said Teszeri. That being said we know that there is success in this type of facility and are really looking forward to sharing that opportunity with our students.
