A sweet celebration for woman's 100th birthday

EAMONN MAHER

Canada 150 was fun and all, but a Georgetown resident had her own spectacular birthday bash last week to mark a milestone in style.

Betty Vollmar celebrated her 100th birthday with family and her Halton Hills Extendicare friends with a visit from an ice cream truck.

Born June 29, 1917 in Brighton, England, Betty was the youngest of four children whose father passed away when she was just two years old.

Vollmar came to Canada at age seven to live with her childless aunt and uncle in Toronto, and would marry Robert Henry Vollmar on Aug. 20, 1938.

The mother of former Halton Hills mayor Marilyn Serjeantson, Betty worked as a store detective with the Robert Simpson Co. for 27 years in 1982. Her husband Bob passed away in 1984, and her son Jim died in 1985.

She moved to Georgetown in 1999, and has five grandsons and eight great-grandchildren.

Betty remains active at Extendicare in penny cards, bingo and special events. She
