Halton Hills council has cast its support behind a Halton region motion aimed at helping pollinator populations recover.

The motion, adopted by Halton Region council at its July 12 meeting, aims at encouraging food sources, clean water and shelter for pollinators.

To that end, the region will use plantings favourable to pollinators and is encouraging residents throughout Halton to do the same at home.

"Regional council endorsed this initiative to help support bees and other pollinators throughout Halton. Pollinators are essential to the continued success of Halton's agricultural sector while also strengthening the health and biodiversity of the community's green spac-
