

Farewell to Memorial

Roller skating in 1965.

The arena has seen plenty of upgrades and fix-it work done over the decades. (Above) A worker in 1962 takes a break from working on the benches. (Right) Don Gosling in the bowels of the rink in the 1960s.

The venerable old rink on Mill Street has been decommissioned and will be torn down. It served the town for 91 years.

Gordon Alcott and NHL legend Franis 'King' Clancy compare notes on Georgetown being the home of the Little NHL in the 1960s.
