Knit in Public Day at two businesses

Georgetown Yarn hosted its annual World Wide Knit in Public Day outside their shop on Guelph St., Georgetown recently. The weather co-operated on the Saturday and there was an excellent turnout. Diane Crawford, owner of Georgetown Yarn, was pleased with all the yarn donations that came in for their community knitting project, Let's Blanket Halton. A lot of food items were also donated for the Georgetown Bread Basket. A surprise visitor was Mayor Rick Bonnette who was driving by and dropped by to say hello and to share a knitting story. Marilyn Willis (left) and Lindsay Dunlop were two members of the Silvercreek Stitch and Sip knitting group who celebrated national Knit in Public Day recently by knitting while sitting on the chairs outside Silvercreek Espresso Bar. The group, consisting of about 20 knitters, gather on Mondays, 5:30 to 8 p.m. at Silvercreek Espresso Bar, 112 Main St. S., Georgetown. Interested knitters of all skill levels are encouraged to drop by, and the group offers support to knitters who need help with a project.
