Although it looks very real, this is actually a scene from a video on the consequences of distracted driving being filmed at 27 Sideroad and Eighth Line last Wednesday. Appearing in the production, done by Halton Regional Police, in conjunction with Cogeco TV, Safe Communities Halton Hills and Georgetown District High School were Const. Wally Trulsen and victims Keiran Lawson (lying on the road) and his brother Aidan. Photo by Ted Brown

Video highlights consequences of distracted driving

If anyone came upon the scene at 27 Sideroad and Eighth Line Wednesday morning (Nov. 20) they would have thought there had been a horrific crash, but it was all just make believe.

Halton Regional Police, in conjunction with Cogeco TV, Safe Communities Halton Hills and GDHS were there—with smashed cars, ketchup splashed on the pavement simulating blood, and youths playing accident victims—filming a video on distracted driving.

CT scanner ready for patients

Staff, physicians and volunteers at Georgetown Hospital (GH) got a head start on holiday season celebrations as they gathered to mark the official opening of the Hospital's first Computed Tomography (CT) scanner (Thursday).

The first booked patient is scheduled for Monday, December 2.

"Today is all about providing care closer to home. I am delighted to be standing next to this amazing piece of technology because I know how much it will improve the care we provide to our patients," said Cindy McDonnell, Chief Operating Officer at Georgetown Hospital. "This has truly been a community effort and would not have been possible without the overwhelming support we have received."

Joining the festivities was Fred Helson whose $1 million donation to the Georgetown Hospital Foundation's Investing in Care - Close to Home fundraising campaign made the purchase of the CT scanner possible.
