

A bright donation

Once again the Lambert family on Johnson Crescent in Georgetown presented a donation to Georgetown Hospital Foundation, in aid of the new renovations. This year, the family raised $9,102 from passersby dropping donations in the box out front as they visited the Lamberts outstanding Christmas light display. A total of $11,102 was raised, but the family learned of an Orangeville family who lost their mother to cancer on Boxing Day, and decided to donate $1,000 to each of her sons, in trust. On hand for the presentation were (from left) Georgetown Hospital Foundation chair Laurent Thibault, executive director KC Carruthers and board member Colleen Peters, along with Kathy, Darryl and Haley Lambert.
