

Journey show extended to March 24

The Williams Mill Gallery show, Journey Revealed, has been extended to March 24.

It features artists: Monica Burnside, Amanda Gonçalves, Antonina Gladkova and Shelley Newman.

Journey Revealed is about "four individuals on separate journeys, forging in solitary spaces, evolving and progressing, join together. The journey is what we share. The inner search to find the processes that combined together produce paintings. We each share the desire to express ourselves visually."

For more information go to www.williamsmill.com or call 905-873-8203. Williams Mill is located in Glen Williams.

H.A.R.P. holds AGM on Thursday

H.A.R.P. holds its Annual General Meeting (AGM) on Thursday, March 21, 7 p.m. at the Hornby Glen Golf Club. Following a report by President Erik Kowal, elections for the 2013/2014 H.A.R.P. Board (minimum of six members) will be held.

"Making the voice of Hornby and area residents heard at the Town and Region is in our hands. Only by helping each other and supporting your local association can we do that effectively," said Kowal. "Now is the time for other members of our Hornby community to step up and help keep HARP a thriving organization. Please give serious thought to our local community, and let us know if you are willing to join the Board."

If interested call Kowal, 905-876-1582.

This year attendees will be updated on the new outlet mall at Steeles Ave. and Trafalgar Rd.

Annual H.A.R.P. membership is only $10.

Local woman contributes to Chicken Soup book series

A Georgetown woman is a contributor to a new Chicken Soup for the Soul book set to be released next month.

A story submitted by Christine Coleman will be included in Chicken Soup for the Soul: Raising Kids on the Spectrum. The book, to be released on World Autism Awareness Day April 2, features 101 inspirational stories for parent of children with autism and Asperger's.

Coleman wrote about the support she's received in the community while raising her son Cuyler who has autism.

Coleman, a blogger on Urbanmoms.ca, answered the callout for stories for the book last summer.
