THE PROCESS:

The Study is being carried out in accordance with the planning and design process for 'Schedule B' projects as outlined in the Municipal Engineers Association "Municipal Class Environmental Assessment" (October 2000, as amended in 2007), which is approved under the Ontario Environmental Assessment Act.

Ontario is losing too many jobs

"Ontario must confront the new challenges emerging in the global marketplace, including the dynamic economies in the Far East. If we don't do everything we can to compete successfully, we will lose jobs in this province." — Ted Arnott in the Ontario Legislature, June 8, 2005

Almost eight years ago, I called upon the provincial government to have an all-party legislative committee hold public hearings on the competitiveness challenges faced by our manufacturers.

My hope was that we could work together across party lines to develop an action plan to support our manufacturing sector, at that time the source of so many jobs in Ontario's economy.

While the Ontario Legislature passed my Private Members Resolution on November 30, 2006, the McGuinty government steadfastly refused to allow the hearings to take place.

Since 2005, Ontario has lost more than 300,000 manufacturing jobs.

Last week, our riding received the disappointing news that A.O. Smith would soon cease manufacturing water heaters in Fergus, and 350 jobs would be lost.

The next day, I made repeated calls to company, union, and government officials, and spoke to Premier Kathleen Wynne. Along with Centre Wellington Township Mayor Joanne Ross-Zuj, I visited the plant, and we resolved to do whatever we could to support the affected families.

TED ARNOTT

A new drug is giving some cystic fibrosis patients hope for the future, and they are now awaiting provincial government approval for its funding.

On March 28, I raised the issue in the legislature, calling on the government to expedite funding approval for KALYDECO, a new medication which has shown great promise in treating some forms of CF.

I informed the House about Madison Phipps, a 17-year-old Georgetown resident who has suffered from cystic fibrosis since birth.

The Canadian Expert Drug Committee has recommended that KALYDECO be on the formulary listing of public funded provincial drug plans for the treatment of some cystic fibrosis patients.

Now it's up to the Minister of Health to act and do the right thing, so that patients like Maddie Phipps can have access to this life-saving drug.

OUR RESIDENTS CONTINUE TO TELL US WHAT A WONDERFUL LIFE THEY ARE ENJOYING AT BIRKDALE PLACE!

Sheila and Stan already have a lot to say about celebrating life at Birkdale!

"First of all, it was the wonderful friendliness that struck us, and so we decided to choose a suite and move in.

We've been happy we made the choice! The variety of social activities has been more than we anticipated and is simply beyond all expectations.

The food is so good you'd think we might gain weight, but actually it's a far more balanced and nutritious diet than we've been eating.

We're just very, very happy - should have moved here a year ago!"
