Grease is the word at Georgetown High School

It's been a long time coming, so slick your hair, iron your poodle skirt, and step back in time with Georgetown District High School's production of the musical Grease, the number 1 all-time highest-grossing musical in the U.S.A.

From construction to costumes, and harmony to hair, staff from a wide variety of disciplines, and students from Grades 9 to 12 have been working hard on and off stage to polish and perfect the show.

Set in the 1950s, the story follows 10 working class teenagers as they navigate the complexities of life and love through song and dance.

"It's been a fun experience so far because I have made a ton of friendships, and I am really excited for the end result," says Malachi Grant, who plays lead, Danny Zuko.

Director Mary McIntyre says, "Mounting a main stage musical is something I have wanted to do here at Georgetown for over eight years. This truly is a collaborative effort and I am honoured to be working with such dedicated and talented staff and students".

Grade 12 student Chloe Karger, who hopes to pursue an acting career, is the show's stage manager and says, "being involved in the musical has meant incredible new learning that I wouldn't have had if we didn't do Grease, and being a part of something collective and important to the school community has been amazing".

With live music, talent and a cohesive desire to entertain, Grease is guaranteed to knock your bobby socks off and have you singing the songs long after the curtain has closed!

The show dates are:

- Thursday, May 9, 7 p.m.
- Friday, May 10, 7 p.m.
- Saturday, May 11, 2 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Tickets cost $12/adult and $8/student, available in advance or at the door. For more info visit www.georgetowndistricthighschool.com or call 905-877-6966.
