

Bombers take Pavlopoulos in 7th round

some proper coaching. At UBC, I basically watched youtube videos for instruction and didn't train properly. With the Hammer Kicking guys, my leg strength and technique has really improved and it's more explosive. I'm anxious to show the coaching staff in Winnipeg what I can do."

Pavlopoulos took business management courses at Humber College this year and said he had his best-ever marks, averaging over 80 per cent in his courses.

If unable to catch on with a CFL team, he said he's prepared to return to university to pursue a Bachelor of Commerce degree, but at this point he's focused on forging his pro football career.

As a member of the T-Birds, Pavlopoulos already has experience kicking in cold and windy CIS Canada West stadiums and recorded a 77-yard punt in his rookie season against Alberta, which helped him earn player-of-the-week honours.

"Getting off the plane for games in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, the weather was pretty crazy and I thought how am I going to kick in this place," he laughed.

"When I was drafted (Monday), the coach for the University of Manitoba had some really nice things to say about me and I really appreciated that."

Acton skaters honoured

The Acton Skating Club held its awards day last weekend, recognizing the many accomplishments by its members from the 2012-13 season. (Left) Emily Kinnear was presented with the ASC's CanSkater of the Year for the Monday session by coach Vicki Newman. Earning the CanSkater of the Year award for the Thursday group was Livia Aguir-Hawksby. (Right) Alexie Barber of the Acton Skating Club was presented with the Ron Barker Memorial Award for Sportsmanship by her coach Vicki Newman at last Saturday's awards day for the organization. Submitted photos

Local trio just miss Sutherland Cup

A great playoff run for three Georgetown residents came up one victory short of a provincial Jr. B hockey championship as the Cambridge Winter Hawks lost 4-2 to the host London Nationals in game seven of their best-of-7 Sutherland Cup series.

Forwards Todd Bannerman and Chris Taylor, along with defender and team captain Trevor Hache, played key roles as 20-year-olds for a Winter Hawks' team that won the Cherrey Cup title as Mid-Western Jr. B winners last month.

The Winter Hawks led the series 3-2 at one stage and had two chances to put a fourth Sutherland Cup in their trophy case also, but both times came up just short.

Taylor was among the team's scoring leaders with 11 goals and 15 assists in 29 playoff games, while Bannerman had seven goals and 17 assists in 27 post-season starts and Hache tallied four times and set up seven others in 27 games.

Hache was suspended for the deciding contest after shooting the puck into the crowd during the first period of game six in Cambridge last Saturday.
