

SPOTLIGHT... on Big Daddy Festival

Vanessa Sepe, 2, of Georgetown gets a bird's eye view of the Big Daddy Festival in Downtown Georgetown courtesy of the stilt walker.

Photos by Andrea Lefebvre

Above: Nathan Bryant, 2, and his dad, Mike, of Georgetown, check out the Mighty Machines on display in downtown Georgetown.

Above right: Bob Winterburn of Georgetown goes fist-to-fist with Canadian heavyweight boxer George Chuvalo, who was signing autographs at the Williams Mill.

Right: Anthony Barr, from the Sacred Sevens Sharing Circle, teaches Samantha Del Guidice, 7, of Georgetown, how to play a wooden flute at Willow Park.

Below right: Under the supervision of Fannie the Clown, Marilyne St. Pierre from Party Balloons and Gifts applies a tattoo to the arm of August Jakovcic, 4, from Georgetown.

Below: Brad and Lucas, 11, Pennycook of Georgetown show off their handiwork—and their dog, Willow, a Chinese-crested powderpuff at Willow Park.

The fourth annual Big Daddy Festival—in celebration of Father's Day—was held this past weekend at various locations throughout Halton Hills. Roughly 7,000 people took part in the events which included an Indie Band Night for youth, Bike It to the Market, an Art and Chill Zone in Glen Williams, Acton's Got Talent and Beach Party, and Aboriginal activities at Willow Park Ecology Centre. Many of the events showcased special aspects of Halton Hills.

John Del Guidice helps his six-year-old son Evan play the didgeridoo at Willow Park during the Big Daddy Festival.

Go Local for Lunch! (and Dinner)

-  Ingredients from a growing list of Local Suppliers
-  Only Ontario Craft Wines and Brews (12 taps!)
-  Gluten-free & Veggie Options
-  Friendly Staff
-  Patio

www.pintandpaddle.ca
210 Guelph St. (opposite MacDonald's)

Family OPTICAL

905•873•3050

25% OFF SUNGLASSES

Non Prescription - In Stock only
Valid until July 31/13

In business over 24 years!
In Store Eye Exams Arranged.

280 Guelph St.,
Georgetown Market Place Mall
www.familyoptical.ca