BUSINESS

That's a lot of coffee!

Tim O'Connor (second from right), owner of the two McDonald's Restaurants in Halton Hills, recently presented a cheque for $10,415 to Brenda Sisnett (left) and Jane Fogal of the Perchance to Dream Campaign. Accompanying O'Connor is Steve Cabral, Operations Supervisor for Onatamy Foods. The money is the first installment of the $25,000 pledge made by McDonald's of Halton Hills to help rebuild and upgrade the libraries and Cultural Centre. Ten cents from every Hot McCafe brewed and specialty coffee has been earmarked for local projects.

Union Gas, firefighters help out with Holy Cross snack program

For the third consecutive year, Union Gas employees visited Holy Cross School to help prepare a healthy snack for the students. Union Gas donated $1,000 to the student nutrition program through its Helping Hands in Action program. Lending a hand to prepare and serve the snacks were (from left) Halton Hills Firefighters Chris Scully, Mark Bailey, Shawn Barnes, Mark Burger, Armando Cabral, Holy Cross Snack Program Coordinator Tracy Noonan, Union Gas employee Nick Klip, Halton Food for Thought Executive Director Chris Burr, and Union Gas employees Antoinette Welsby and Marc Hewing. Many thanks to both the crew from the fire department and Union Gas for their support of the student nutrition program at Holy Cross School. For more information regarding student nutrition programs in Halton, visit www.haltonfoodforthought.com.
