

Tattoo parlour clients asked to visit doctor

The Halton Region Health Department has been made aware of an uninspected tattoo business at a private home at 23 Arletta St. in Georgetown, operated by Christopher Dayfoot.

Proper infection control procedures were not being followed.

Clients may be at risk of hepatitis B and C, HIV, and skin infections.

The Health Department is asking anyone who has had services to contact a health care professional for assessment.

At this site the Health Department inspection found serious deficiencies in:

- running water and disinfection agents;
- environment hygiene;

· equipment records and client records.

The Health Department recommends anyone interested in receiving a tattoo, a body piercing, or a skin pigmentation to first ask the operator for inspection records.

A list of inspected premises is also available at www.halton.ca. Search "inspected premises."

The Health Department inspects tattoo or body piercing artist services of which it has been made aware.

Public health inspectors monitor the services regularly to ensure the operator complies with the applicable infection prevention and control procedures.

Halton Region makes the inspection records available to the public.

For more information, call the Halton Region Health Department. Dial 311 or 905-825-6000.

More information about proper infection prevention and control is also posted on the Health Department website: www.halton.ca/ipac.
