Fred Eaglesmith Show lands in Georgetown April 5

The Fred Eaglesmith Show's Southern Ontario Spring Tour playing rock 'n' roll music for the soul and for charity stops in Georgetown on Saturday, April 5.

The event will be held at the Georgetown Legion, 8 p.m. Tickets are $25 in advance or $30 at the door.

"The performance harkens back to the '60s and '70s variety shows that were on TV. It's a show. It's a lot more than a concert. I like to pay attention to what's cutting edge and bring that into the live show," said Fred Eaglesmith.

One of the few remaining full-time travelling rock 'n' roll productions, the Fred Eaglesmith Show has performed extensively in North America and Europe. But this April, Juno Award winner Eaglesmith plays a series of intimate shows in his native rural Ontario to celebrate the release of his 20th album Tambourine.

"When I put the songs together for Tambourine, I was thinking about the days when there were five push buttons on an automobile radio," Eaglesmith explains. "Everyone was listening to AM stations and, at any given time, one of those five buttons was playing a song worth listening to."

Eaglesmith's songs have been covered by some of the biggest names in Nashville including Toby Keith, Alan Jackson and Miranda Lambert and the band has been musical guests on David Letterman. Eaglesmith, whose songs were featured in the play "Dear Johnny Deere", has spent over 30 years touring the world writing songs and collecting stories. He brings
