Living with cancer? HELP IS CLOSE TO HOME

With the arrival of April we also welcome daffodils and the Canadian Cancer Society's annual awareness campaign. It is always inspiring to see these springtime symbols of renewal and hope.

The volunteers at the Canadian Cancer Society are hard at work in their communities and across Canada, knocking on doors, organizing special events, and offering their legendary yellow daffodils in the form of pins or in all their fresh, natural beauty.

Donations collected during Daffodil Month are used to fund cancer research, public information programs, and services related to the prevention of cancer. This money is also used to advocate for survivors and support people living with cancer, as well as their families and caregivers.

Would you like to make a donation to the Society? During April, when the campaign is in full swing, you can purchase beautiful daffodils or a pin to wear in your lapel to show your solidarity for this cause. You can also donate via the Society's website at www.cancer.ca.

Nobody is immune to this devastating disease, despite all the progress that has been made. By participating in Daffodil Month in any way you can, you will be helping in the fight against cancer.

Would you like to participate in something more local? All this month Cancer Assistance Services of Halton Hills are canvassing for donations. To find out more, visit their website at www.cancerassistance.org
